

REVERSE BATTERY PROTECTION CIRCUIT

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reverse battery protection circuit comprising a first controlled semiconductor switch for providing current to a load and coupled in series with load terminals across which load terminals the load is adapted to be connected and a second controlled semiconductor switch disposed in a series circuit with a free wheeling diode, the series circuit being coupled across the load terminals.